

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A draining device for removing processing water attached to a lens includes: a first lens holding shaft to which a cup attached to a refractive surface of the lens as a processing
5 jig can be fitted; and a rotating unit which rotates the first lens holding shaft to remove the water by centrifugal force.